

Is the bear making its move? What should investors do?

The last few weeks the global markets have been hit pretty hard. In June alone the S&P 500 was down nearly 3%! However this volatility was not unexpected (we talked about it in our June commentary). In fact we welcome this recent volatility!

In our latest market commentary video we explain the following*:

- Review the global markets and sectors . . . is the bull market over?
- The current global fireworks including the turmoil (or dumpster fire) in Greece.
- How to take advantage of current market volatility: Different strategies for investing and trading.

We end our video with some exciting news including some new services that Iron Gate Global Advisors will be rolling out in the near future.

If you have any questions don't hesitate to reach out, email me at brett@igga.dev.