

Why optimism will win

We live in a world where negativity seems to be the norm. Turn on the T.V., listen to the radio, read your emails and it seems most headlines are rooted in negativity.

In today's podcast we discuss why optimism will always triumph and why being optimistic is the key to making money over time. We also share some amazing statistics from this great country and the globe that most of you have never heard (but need to know!).

This is one of the podcasts that hopefully will put a smile on your face and help you realize, we live at a pretty amazing time in history.

Here's to wise investing,

Spencer, Brian and Brett
